Former Barton Boy Gets War News.

Dean Lewis, son of N. M. Lewis, formerly of this town and now at Northampton, Mass., has one of the best wireless stations in Massachusetts. His range for strong stations is over 2500 miles and he has picked up messages from Colon, Panama. Of late he has been getting news from the warships and liners off the coast, says a Springfield, (Mass.) daily. Of course the messages between the fighting craft are in cipher, but nevertheless, they are interesting and indicate localities, while others were messages of a private nature from people on board the liners. The sending stations on warships are not of the so-called high power stations but have a radius of about 400 to 600 miles, so Mr. Lewis cannot get messages farther away than that. Mr. Lewis is bound under federal law not to make public any messages he shall intercept.

The Marion Bickford Concert.

While not largely attended, a very enthusiastic and fairly good sized audience were most highly entertained at the opera hall last evening. "Songs You Like to Hear," well expresses the selections rendered by Miss Bickford and all were charmed with her wonderfully sweet contralto voice and graceful manner. One of the most pleasing things about the concert was the fact that her selections were understandable, and we did not find ourselves constantly wondering just what the song was all about, as has been so often the case.

Miss Daisy Stevens has a very charming manner and all her readings were received with much applause. Both the clarinet obligato and Air Varié by Slayton Lang showed splendid technique with just that right shading that shows the difference between a musician and a player. These numbers were enthusiastically received. Amory Seaver accompanied both Miss Bickford and Mr. Ling in a very creditable manner. Certainly it was a splendid concert by young and talented artists, and the encores to each and every selection showed the appreciation of the audience.

Seaver Candidate for Senator.

To the People of Orleans County: I have decided to become a candidate for senator for the south end of the county and would respectfully ask your support for that office. Having always been a Republican I ask a nomination by that party at their coming county convention. Campaign promises are sometimes made for the purpose of securing votes and I do not intend to make pledges I might not be able to fulfill. However, should you see fit to elect me, I should endeavor to be found on the right side of public questions. Very respectfully, H. T. Seaver.

SCHOOL OPENS SEPT. 1st

High School to Have Another Assistant. Domestic Science, Mechanical Drawing, Manual Training and Teachers' Training Course Established

The educational demands of the school district have made it imperative to broaden the range of work in the academy to such an extent as to necessitate employing four full time teachers in the high school besides the special teacher of music. There will therefore be three assistants in the academy, two women and one man. The latter will act in the capacity of assistant principal.

Besides his work in supervision and general oversight of the building the principal will conduct classes in mathematics, science, manual training and mechanical drawing. The work in manual training is to be begun in grades seven and eight and later made a regular part of the academy program. A full course of work in mechanical drawing has been mapped out so as to be begun in the seventh grade and continued through the four years in the academy. Here is to be laid a basis for practical endeavor; a pupil is to be taught to think and to be able to use his hands.

An efficient teacher has been secured to conduct courses in music and in domestic science. The work in music is to be similar in nature to that of last year. Domestic science, which is a new departure, will consist of a course in cooking open to seniors and a course in sewing open to juniors. In addition to this some work will be done in sewing in grade eight.

The school trustees have finally decided to introduce a teacher training course on lines recommended by the state board of education. An expert training teacher has been guaranteed by the superintendent of education to direct this department of the school. It is anticipated that a large number of students will enroll for the training course. It will be open to high school graduates only.

Circumstances will prevent the publication of a school catalog until about September 1, but in order to bring our scheme of studies before the undergraduates and prospective students, the school will issue in a few days a preliminary announcement of courses. These will be available at this office, Pierce's pharmacy and on the fair grounds Tuesday, the 18th.

From now on till further notice the principal will be in his office at the academy on Tuesday and Friday afternoon of each week from two until five o'clock to consult with parents and pupils concerning the courses of study. It is requested that those who have rooms to rent to students or teachers will communicate with the principal. Students should communicate with the principal in case they wish him to aid them in securing desirable rooms or board.

Cook-Do.

A quiet wedding occurred Friday afternoon when Miss Carrie May Cook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace P. Cook, became the bride of Elmer Ellsworth Doe of Orleans. Only the immediate families of the bride and groom were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. A. Warner immediately after which the party left by automobile. Miss Cook has a great many friends in Barton, where she has resided nearly all her life. To those who have known her best this simple quiet wedding will appear only to conform with her natural dislike of the pretentious. Mr. Doe is a director and the manager of the E. L. Chandler company at Greensboro, Vermont. Leonard won the lightweight championship from George Manosh Nov. 25, 1913. Manosh held the lightweight championship of the state from 1911 until his defeat by Leonard. Leonard bars no one at 110 pounds. Signed, C. M. Leonard.

Mrs. Perley D. Carr of Marlboro, Mrs. Carr was Miss Hazel Libby of this place. Her mother, Mrs. Hiram Libby, is caring for her.

Fred Pickle, Henry Harding and Frank Carr, all of whom have horses at Roaring Brook park, are at Newport races today and tomorrow, and after the races commencing with our fair here, will be on the racing circuit until November.

The band concert Saturday night drew an exceptionally large crowd, probably fully 1500 people. As an added attraction a fakir did some acrobatic stunts opposite the band stand, and both picture houses were well patronized.

At Hotel Barton there are registered besides the regular commercial and local people, Mr. McLea of Montreal, who spent the week end here with his wife and daughter Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson and Miss Nelson of Montreal and Miss Fuller of Boston.

The pop concert Friday night promised to be one of the best events of the season, until rudely interrupted by the electrical storm. A lot of hard work had been put into the organization and program and the tennis court of Dr. Hastings made an ideal place for such an event.

Several of our crack tennis players went to Orleans Saturday and were able to win more than their share of the events, although the teams seem to be very well matched. If the weather is suitable the Orleans fellows will come to Barton Saturday where matches will be held on the Powell and possibly other courts.

F. D. Thompson has sold for the Pillsbury estate, the property at Willoughby lake, comprising the cottage, the old mill site and about twenty acres of land, which includes the excellent beach on the west side of the lake. The purchaser is Ernest Wheeler, who for the past few years has run several pleasure boats at the lake, as well as handled quite a little real estate there.

The feature film of the Boer war at the Gem theatre Thursday night was not as well attended as have been the other features. The management are really trying from time to time to show some excellent photoplays but without good houses they cannot continue it, because these films cost a lot of money to get. The Gem theatre management spend their money locally, a fact well worth considering.

H. R. Cutler has received news of the death of his only sister, Mrs. Eliza (Cutler) Hall, widow of the late J. W. Hall, a former prominent merchant here, which occurred at the summer home of her oldest son, Cutler Pliny Mahoningtown, Pa., August 9. The remains were taken to Baltimore, Md., for interment beside her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sanville are entertaining their son, Eleazar Sanville, and family of Westfield, Mass.

FAIR NEXT WEEK.

The first fair of the season is the Barton fair next week, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Secretary Hamblet says things are progressing rapidly and the entries of blooded stock even exceeds his fondest expectations. This certainly will be an agricultural exhibit of more than usual merit and every farmer in this section of Vermont ought to visit the Barton fair. County agent Denel has arranged with Caledonia county's man, Stimpson, for an exhibit of crops raised from the use of chemicals purchased cooperatively by the Caledonia association. This ought to interest everyone. There are many other things of special interest in the way of agricultural exhibits.

The entries of race horses as shown by the list just out is large and this means plenty of fast racing.

The ball games will be of more than usual interest this year. For details of the teams and days on which they play see the advertising on page six of this issue.

Plan to meet your friends at the Barton fair next week.

Fair Notes.

The Orleans County Agricultural association will have a good sized tent for its headquarters at the Barton fair grounds Aug. 13 to 21 inclusive. The county agent will be glad to meet the farmers and the members of the association and to have them make it their headquarters.

To save confusion please let me know at once by mail how many stalls you want for your stock at the fair next week.

Geo. F. Reed, Supt. Cattle.

The Monitor notes that H. T. Seaver will have a Sharpes Mechanical milker on the grounds and will give demonstrations.

In view of the fact that some pickpocketing has heretofore gone on it is a wise precaution for the association to secure the Pinkerton detectives to guard the crowds.
